

WHY NOT LET IT REST?

It is a strange thing to us that sensible, practical business men, men who are in the habit of giving thought to their business interests and settling all such matters by the standard of plain reason and sound judgment, cannot look at this State debt question in the same light. It is a plain debt, owing and due from the great State of Tennessee to parties who hold her paper, and will have to be paid sooner or later. The creditors come forward now and agree to scale the debt down to 60c. on the dollar, with graded interest at 3, 4, 5 and 6 per cent. They also give plenty of time in which to pay it. Now, what business man in private life would not readily accept such a compromise from his creditors, when he is in a condition to pay it, and may by so doing regain credit and a sound financial standing in the commercial world? No one, unless he be a knave or an idiot. This is just the condition in which Tennessee today finds herself. She owes the debt, she is abundantly able to pay it, on the terms proposed, and is bound by every principle of justice, law, equity and honor to do so. Why will not men then lay aside their passions and bitter animosities, their greed for office and party preference, accept and sustain this recent settlement and restore once more the good name and credit of their State? We ask this question in a calm, dispassionate way—not of the demagogue, not of the time-server, not of the political disorganizer who can only see his way clear to petty power and an office, by engendering dissensions among the honest masses—but, we ask it, of the thrifty business man, of the tax-paying property-holder whose property is daily depreciating in value, of the honest masses who fill the soil and from whom the greatest revenue comes after why; why do they not view it in a plain, common-sense light and determine to ratify this settlement as final and forever?

We believe they will. They are heartily tired and sick of its continued agitation and have felt its damaging influence on the general business and prosperity of the State. It has now been only a few weeks since the passage of the settlement and we can already see and hear a healthy, growing sentiment in its favor, and this too among all classes and conditions. Only a few days ago, we heard a sensible, hard working man, a man who earns his living by hard work and manly labor, say he was in favor of sustaining it and would not vote to place any man in the Legislature who was in favor of readjustment. "And," he added, "this is not alone my own views, but those of a large number of my friends and associates." This, we believe, is the daily increasing sentiment of even many of those who have heretofore opposed and fought against any settlement higher than 50c. Many of the legislators who voted against it, will now acquiesce and uphold it. The great majority of the people of the State are for its maintenance, the assertion of a few would-be leaders to the contrary notwithstanding, and if the popular voice is given expression in the coming convention on the 20th, it will be heard to speak no uncertain sound for its maintenance.

THE DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING.

A Fine Body of Representative Men Present. The Harmonious in Tune.

In pursuance of the call of the County Democratic Executive Committee, the Mass Meeting assembled promptly at 10 o'clock, on Monday morning, in the Circuit Court room. Judge C. G. Smith, Chairman of the County Executive Committee, called the meeting to order and briefly stated the object of the meeting. He said it was his proud duty to call the Democracy of Montgomery county together to select delegates to attend the Gubernatorial Convention which meets in Nashville on the 20th inst. He believed the meeting had been called in a spirit of union and harmony and he hoped that this greatly to be desired result would be the moving spirit of the entire body of men he saw before him. He said, however, it was unnecessary to invoke such action on the part of the brave Democracy of this county; decency and order had ever characterized their councils and all true Democrats saw its necessity now more than ever before. We had a great and good county, a constituency that had furnished to the State and Nation patriots and Statesmen in times past, and we could not now be ungrateful to the memory of those who had served the Republic so well in the coming contest and the best and truest interests of our State thereby served; this much desired result could only be brought about by the wisest measures and a harmonious unity of purpose and action, etc., etc.

The Judge's short talk was received with applause, and he then declared the convention ready for business by the election of a permanent Chairman.

Judge Chas. W. Tyler nominated Gen. W. A. Quarles for permanent Chairman. The nomination was seconded by Judge J. W. Seales, and Gen. Quarles was unanimously elected permanent Chairman.

Judge C. W. Tyler and Hon. R. N. Rhodes were then appointed a committee to conduct the chairman elect to the stand.

Gen. Quarles took the chair and made a short address. He said he did not know why he had been so honored, unless it was because of his known love and devotion to the Democratic party and its principles as he understood them; he had been a life-long Democrat and hoped to die in the same belief. He was now out of politics, however, and had no desire to ever enter again, but he was proud and willing to serve his fellow Democrats in a Mass Meeting of Montgomery county's gallant Democracy. But that we were not here for forensic display, in a discussion of the questions of the hour, but for the plain simple purpose of appointing a body of representative men as delegates to the Gubernatorial convention, men who would discharge their duty calmly and faithfully and advocate the time-honored principles of Democracy. The time had come when the party urgently needed its good men, and he knew the Mass Meeting would send brave, thoughtful men, men who by a union of heart and hand would best serve their people and frame a platform upon which all good Democrats could stand and do battle for correct principles and against our common enemy—the Republican party.

It is hardly possible to give even a brief synopsis of what the General said, but his talk was heartily cheered by the convention and it was evident that conservatism and harmony were to be the watchword of the meeting.

The business of the convention was then further proceeded with by the appointment of Messrs. M. V. Ingram, W. O. Brandon, and Ed. C. Campbell, as Secretaries. Judge C. W. Tyler moved that the Chair appoint a committee of seven to report the names of suitable delegates to the Gubernatorial convention, and also to draft a series of resolutions, which should be submitted to a vote of the Mass meeting without debate; both motions were unanimously carried.

The Chair appointed the following committee to select delegates: Judge C. W. Tyler, Chairman; John B. Allen, H. H. Lorton, E. B. Ross, P. G. Johnson, W. D. Taylor, Griffin Orgain. This committee retired to the County Court room to accomplish its work.

Upon motion of Judge Seales, recess of thirty minutes was taken, until the committee could report. The time having expired, the committee on delegates and resolutions returned and reported through its Chairman, Judge Tyler, the following list of delegates, by districts. He said the delegation was a large one, and the committee had endeavored to make it as fair and representative of every shade of opinion as possible:
